3275 science park drive: Unconstrained Face Recognition Shaohua Kevin Zhou, Rama Chellappa, Wenyi Zhao, 2006-10-11 Face recognition has been actively studied over the past decade and continues to be a big research challenge. Just recently, researchers have begun to investigate face recognition under unconstrained conditions. Unconstrained Face Recognition provides a comprehensive review of this biometric, especially face recognition from video, assembling a collection of novel approaches that are able to recognize human faces under various unconstrained situations. The underlying basis of these approaches is that, unlike conventional face recognition algorithms, they exploit the inherent characteristics of the unconstrained situation and thus improve the recognition performance when compared with conventional algorithms. Unconstrained Face Recognition is structured to meet the needs of a professional audience of researchers and practitioners in industry. This volume is also suitable for advanced-level students in computer science.

Li, Rama Chellappa, 2009-06-02 The development of technologies for the identification of individuals has driven the interest and curiosity of many people. Spearheaded and inspired by the Bertillon coding system for the classification of humans based on physical measurements, scientists and engineers have been trying to invent new devices and classification systems to capture the human identity from its body measurements. One of the main limitations of the precursors of today's biometrics, which is still present in the vast majority of the existing biometric systems, has been the need to keep the device in close contact with the subject to capture the biometric measurements. This clearly limits the applicability and convenience of biometric systems. This book presents an important step in addressing this limitation by describing a number of methodologies to capture meaningful biometric information from a distance. Most materials covered in this book have been presented at the International Summer School on Biometrics which is held every year in Alghero, Italy and which has become a flagship activity of the IAPR Technical Committee on Biometrics (IAPR TC4). The last four chapters of the book are derived from some of the best presentations by the participating students of the school. The educational value of this book is also highlighted by the number of proposed exercises and questions which will help the reader to better understand the proposed topics.

This handbook contains comprehensive information on a variety of preservatives available from major chemical manufacturers and can expedite the material selection process for chemists, formulators and purchasing agents by providing the answers to these questions: Is the agent capable of inhibiting the detrimental effects of oxygen, ozone, or microbes to the extent necessary? Is the agent's overall physical and chemical attributes compatible with the product or system being protected? Can the agent remain stable under storage conditions and for the application requirements? Is its safety in production and handling acceptable? Does its level of toxicity meet environmental regulations? Does it meet cost requirements?
